

Changelog on last page.

Congratulations! You are now a contestant on the popular television game show "Slut Life." For the next year, you will be living in an apartment provided by us together with the other contestants. All your actions will be monitored and broadcasted constantly to a universal audience. At the end of the year, you can choose from a list of rewards. Breaking any rules will result in the instant revocation of your reward.

As part of the show, you will be transported to another planet for the duration of your stay. Instead of the normal 24 hour days you're used to, each day on this planet lasts for 32 hours. While this may seem tiring at first, your body will adjust rather quickly. After you're done, you can either stay here or go back to Earth.

To begin, choose a difficulty and origin from the tables below. Most options either cost credits (denoted with a '-' character) or reward credits ('+' character). Sub-options (indented from their parent option) require their parent option to purchase them (credits are additive). Unless otherwise stated, you may purchase multiple sub-options to a parent option. Options denoted with a superscript dagger ('†') can be taken multiple times. If a parent option can be taken multiple times but a sub-option cannot, the sub-option can only be purchased once for every time you take the parent option. Important information is colored as red for restrictions, orange for general information, blue for additional information, and pink for controller options.

Body Modification

The options you choose here are final if your starting age is 18 or you take Timeless/Hourglass. If your starting age is 10 - 17, you will start at a "reduced" version and "grow into" what you chose.

Nonfertile vaginas still have wombs but don't ovulate or menstruate. Hyperfertile vaginas have a 100% pregnancy rate among the same species parents, a 20% chance of being impregnated by a father of a different species (half-human species are considered the same species genetically), and do not respond to chemical contraceptives.

Genitals determine sex: male is penis only, female is vagina only, futanari/hermaphrodite is both vagina and penis. If you are male but can pass as a female at-a-glance, you are considered a trap and can override restrictions that require being biologically female (e.g. Gentleman owner).

All extra purchased penises automatically include respective testicles and extra vaginas automatically include respective wombs. You can remove all but one of your (pairs of) testicles or wombs if you wish.

Embedded testicles overrides testicle size. Girth refers to circumference.

Choose one:

- New body (+20 credits) - You will be given a completely new body, designed to your specifications.
- Old body (0 credits) - You will keep your old body. Ignore the table directly below. You may only take options listed here if they have a double dagger (‡) next to them. You can take Do the Evolution if you take Android as well, which will override the previous restriction.

Cannot be taken with You're Here Forever, Servant with Devoted, or Sex slave.*
- Alternative fluid (0 credits) - You can choose between semen, breast milk, or female sexual fluids for any option or punishment that uses a different fluid. Does not apply to owner-related things.
- Cash-in[†] (-1 credit) - Any credits you have left over can be traded in for $1,000 each to be added to your reward, $100 each added to your Allowance, or $500 each increase to a single job's salary.
- Allowance (-20 credits) - We will give you an allowance of $250 a week. Don't spend it all in one place!
- New identity (-2 credits) - Before you become a contestant, you'll be given a completely new fabricated identity. Useful if you plan on changing your physical appearance. This option is free if taken with New body.
- Safeword (-5 credits) - You will be allowed to select a safeword. Be careful, if you overuse it you will be prohibited from using it.
- Vacation (-25 credits) - For one week every year, you will be allowed to take a week off from punishments and owners to do whatever you wish. Additionally, if you took Outside, you will be allowed to go outside for however long you want during this time. You will not be required to use public transportation during this time if you took it. Requires one of the following: Long play, You're Here Forever, Servant, Sex slave.
- Jackpot[†] (-30 credits) - Roll 1d100. If you roll doubles (11, 22, 33...), you will receive 80 credits (for a net gain of 50 credits).
- Big money[†] (-15 credits) - You may take one additional reward.

Rewards

Pick one. Any listed effects/outcomes only happen after the show.

- Money (0 credits) - You will receive $1,000,000 at the end of the year.
 - Loadsamoney (-40 credits) - You will receive $10,000,000 at the end of the year instead of $1,000,000.
- Mind upload (-10 credits) - Your consciousness will be "uploaded" into a virtual reality database. You will be able to swap between various VR worlds as you please and play with others (both in the database and using normal VR headsets). Your personal AI will be uploaded with you if you purchased one. You will also be able to "download" your consciousness into your body if you took Android.
- New Game+ (-20 credits) - At the end of the show, you will be sent back to before you started. You won't remember being a contestant, however you will keep your new body. You also receive $3,000,000.
- Powers (-50 credits) - Pick any combination of three powers from any combination of sources listed below (see footnotes). Note that taking duplicate powers (e.g. taking Significant other here and some waifu option from another source) is pointless and will not give you any additional perks. Excludes omnipotence and other similarly "broken" powers.
 - Powers+ (-30 credits) - Pick an additional three powers, for a total of six powers.
 - Perfect power (-30 credits) - You can choose one of your newly found powers to be "perfect". That is, it will have no drawbacks (e.g. drains your life force while in use, kills a random person/your father, etc.) or costs/limits (e.g. must have the equivalent value in cash available in your bank account, can only use once a year, etc.).

- Meta (-60 credits) - You can choose any other CYOA to play after you're done. You keep whatever entertainment/roommates you want. In addition, you get a 30% bonus to any category of your choice, rounded up to the nearest point/credit/etc. For example, if the category you choose is 20 points, you get an additional 6 points. For "pick one" categories, pick an additional option. Nobody will know you were a contestant unless you tell them, and even then they probably don't know what "Slut Life" is. The CYOA you choose must have some semblance of a storyline or similar. Think Star Dust or Monster Hunter; not that 5 year old MS paint CYOA from /b/ with three options.

- Meta+ (-20 credits) - Get an additional 30% bonus, either for a separate category or the same category as before.
- Space ship (-70 credits) - You will be rewarded with a space ship. It is roughly as big as your apartment. You will also receive $500,000.
- Planet (-110 credits) - You will be rewarded with a small planet, designed to your specifications. Your apartment will be moved to it after the show, and you can decide what to do with it. You will also receive $300,000.
- Secret society membership (-150 credits) - You will gain a lifetime membership to a secret society that oversees the entire multiverse. This is probably the most control you'll ever have in your life. You may also choose two other rewards for free (sub-options count as one), in addition to New home (if you wish).
- Slut Life is its own reward (+5 credits) - You get nothing. Whether or not you "lose" is up to you. Have a good day.
- New home (+40 credits) - After the show, you will be able to keep your apartment and all your furnishings, entertainment, and roommates. In exchange, your new home will be here. You can choose to continue the punishments/owners/jobs if you wish. You also receive $800,000. You can modify the choices you made for the entire Basics section for free at the end of the show. Requires Small house or higher.

Footnotes

You're done!

- If you/your significant other/your slaves get pregnant, the child will be put in an orphanage managed by the show's parent company. They'll receive a proper education, and if they haven't been adopted when they turn 18, they can leave and will receive a small amount of money each week until they find a job/somewhere to live. On the other hand, you can choose to take care of them, however we will not provide you with any supplies and we will not take care of the child at all (we will intervene if necessary), so you should make sure you have a plan if you choose to raise them.
- You can use pretty much any super power-related CYOA for Powers/Powers+. Basically, as long as the options are something that allow you to do something you wouldn't normally be able to do, it counts (think of those old MS paint CYOAs from /b/ or the Gods one in the form of a D&D alignment chart). You can also choose powers that people have from television, animation, movies, books, games, etc. Alternatively, visit <http://powerlisting.wikia.com/wiki/Category:Powers>
- Shout out to the awesome anons that made the original Sissy Life CYOAs. They're pretty cool people.
- Special thanks to the anon that provided me with the 3+ page PDFs of ideas, and to the countless anons that gave me ideas for this.
- The Exalted DLC is an official unofficial DLC for Slut Life. It should be considered a separate CYOA when playing, as it may not be fully compatible with some or all of the options listed here.
- Please give suggestions/ideas for options if you have any. If you suggest something and you don't see it here, I just probably haven't implemented it yet.
- The originals can be found at <http://archive.loveisover.me/d/thread/5944186/> [NSFW] (among other places).

World Background

This section is for completely useless flavor text about the world where Slut Life takes place. The information provided here has no direct effect on the show (except for the length of day).

- For technological purposes, the year upon starting is 2160. Technologically speaking, Earth is still behind, but Kepler-186f (the planet you're on) is quite advanced (probably because of Ayy Lmaos). Amaze your friends by getting the hoverboard and taking it back to Earth with you!
- People can come to Kepler-186f and leave to Earth as they please. It's quite a common place to vacation.
- One day on Kepler-186f is 32 hours, whereas a normal Earth day is only 24. The number of days in a month and a year is the same as on Earth.
- Many virtual worlds exist. Most (if not all) TV shows, movies, video games, etc. from around the universe in the past 120 or so years have a virtual world, be it single player (usually for TV shows/movies) or multiplayer (mainly the video game side). In addition, all worlds are designed in a way that, even if you don't follow the "correct" route, you can still get a favorable (or not) outcome, even if the original creator(s) never intended for it to happen that way (tl;dr it's fully adaptive based on your actions).

- The "secret society" mentioned in the reward of the same name is some kind of fucked up but somehow functional cross between all those meme organizations (Illuminati, Bilderburg, Freemasons, etc.), various three/four-letter agencies (NSA, CIA, etc.), various non-existent (so far) organizations (Galactic Empire, Federation, etc.), and probably other things. In terms of D&D alignments, it would be chaotic neutral overall, with occasional lean towards true or lawful neutral or even lawful evil, depending on circumstances.

Also note that being a "member" doesn't necessarily mean you get to make decisions; it just guarantees that you'll be "exempt" from the effects of certain decisions. Unfortunately (or fortunately, depending on what you want), most of their time is spent infighting/shitposting, so they're pretty much a non-issue. However, if you were to potentially find a way to gain power in the organization, you could potentially control a lot.

- The need for formal education has been all but eliminated by technology. Anyone can learn the equivalent of three years' worth of information on a subject in just four months. Because of this, the age of adulthood is 10, since a person can learn the "basics" in five years.

- While AIs with their own will can enter almost any device with some kind of external connection, certain restrictions do apply. For example, AIs can only enter a person's cybernetic brain if they are the owner (and the owner actually allows them to) or if they are considered "trusted" by that person. They also cannot enter certain "critical systems" such as power control systems, WMD control systems, or medical systems. On the other hand, most systems do not have perfect security, and the device's security could potentially be bypassed, which is obviously illegal. The only public systems that cannot be entered by an unauthenticated AI are cybernetic brains (and other AI programs), and the only reason for this is that they are programmed to destroy any unauthenticated or unauthorized code to prevent outside access. At the same time, since an AI would only be able to access non-owner devices with its own will, they would be aware of this fact and it would be basically impossible to convince them to otherwise.

- For the cell phone option, remember that this takes place in like 2160. As of writing, we're already beginning to deploy 5G cellular communications. A "basic communication module" around this year would probably be something like 9G, assuming we haven't come up with a better non-Chromian versioning system of adding 1 to it (Shit, Chrome in this era is probably like version 572, now with added chrome because everything is chrome in the future. Fuuuuuuuuuuuuuureee.).

Order of precedence for remote controlled options

- If not with owner or at job: Yourself, random, significant other, personal AI, other roommates, viewers, owners, employers

- If with owner: Owner, other owners, random, viewers, employers, yourself, significant other, personal AI, other roommates

- If at job: Employer, other employers, random, viewers, owners, yourself, significant other, personal AI, other roommates

- Each tier can override lower tiers. E.g. if personal AI set forced no sleeping and you're at a job, your employer for that job can override it. An override by a higher tier resets all overrides by lower tiers.

- Overrides set by employers, owners, and viewers are reset when you're done with that owner or job unless forced.

Definition of "random" for random remote controlled options

These are defaults, you can change the chance and intervals.

- Detachable limbs/penis: 1/128th chance of limb or penis detaching or temporarily not working every hour

- Controller (for Experimental drugs): 1/64th chance of (de-)activating every hour

- Mechanical underwear: 1/64th chance of (de-)activating every hour

- Vibrator, Baby-bot: 1/64th chance of (de-)activating every hour

- Catheter: 1/128th chance of opening/closing every hour

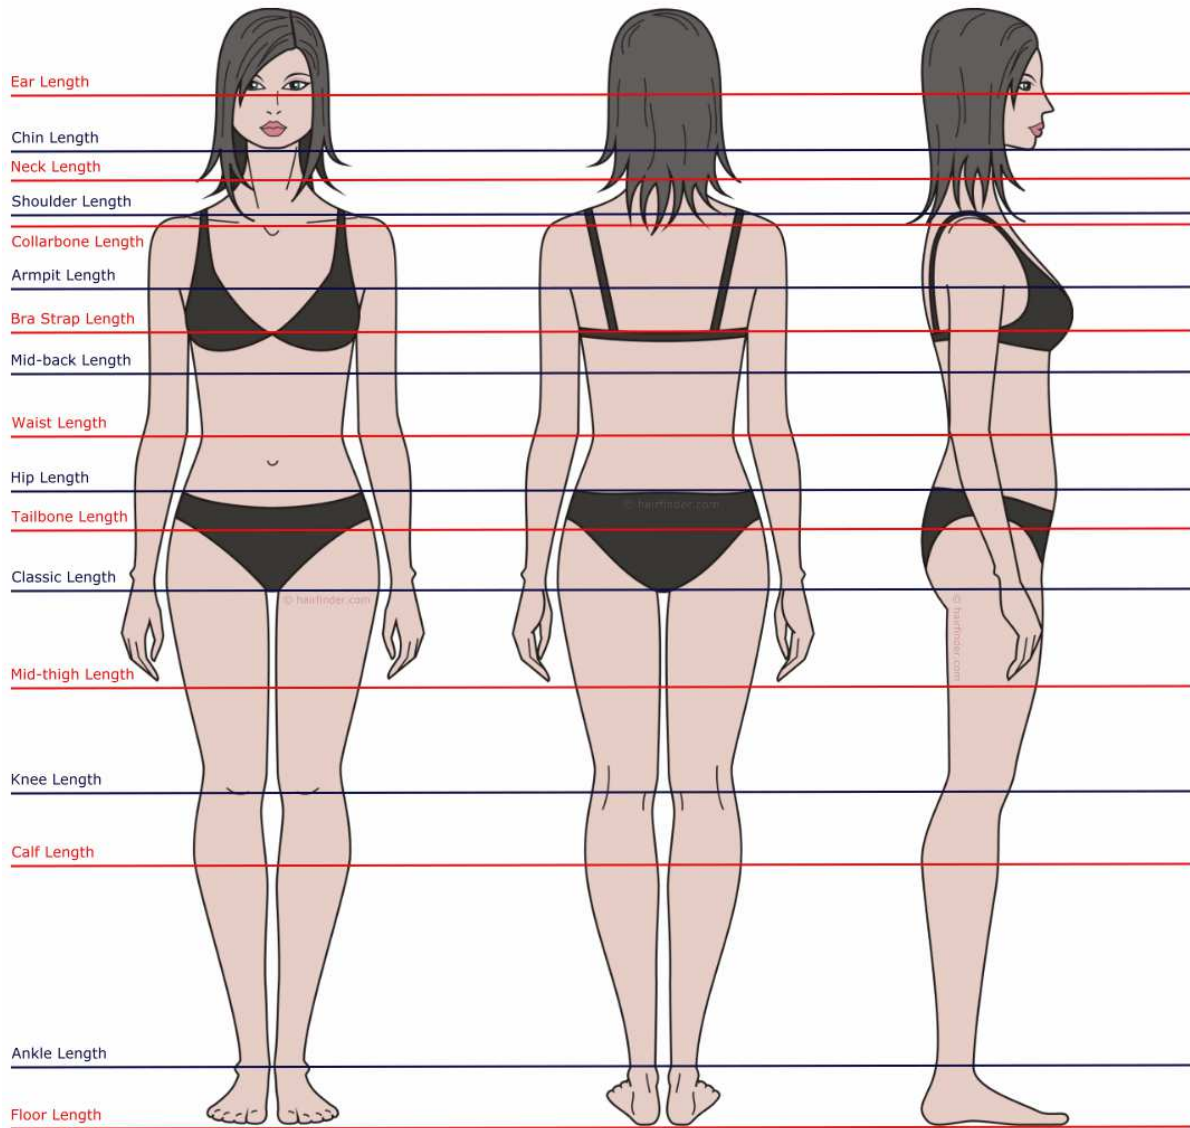

- Music hijack: 1/128th chance of changing every hour

- Breast/Ass expansion: 1/100th chance of changing by ± 5 sizes every day

- Shock collar: 1/32nd chance of triggering every 30 minutes

- Sleep control, Climax control: 1/64th chance of (de-)activating every hour (sleep control will always deactivate at the next random chance interval if it was activated by chance previously)
